

Cuba-Michigan Day Celebrated in Washington D.C.

Washington, June 8 (RHC)-- Representatives of political, economic and social sectors in the U.S. state of Michigan, together with Cuban diplomats accredited in the U.S., have celebrated the Cuba-Michigan Day in Washington, D.C.

The activity is part of a broader program of actions organized by state authorities in support of ongoing process towards normalized U.S.-Cuba relations. It included meetings between a Michigan congressional delegation and Cuba's Ambassador to the United States, José Ramón Cabañas.
