

Donald Trump's Campaign Subpoenaed over Sexual Assault Charges

Washington, October 16 (RHC)-- A lawyer for a former contestant on Donald Trump's reality television show "The Apprentice" has subpoenaed Trump's presidential campaign for all documents relating to her and any other women who have accused Trump of unwanted sexual contact.

Summer Zervos accused Trump of repeatedly sexually assaulting her during a meeting in 2007, saying Trump kissed her on the lips, pressed his body against hers and groped her breasts, all without her consent. She was among a series of women who accused Trump of sexual assault during the 2016 campaign. Trump, in return, called Zervos and the other women liars.
