

President Evo Morales Says US Experts Interfered with Referendum in Bolivia

La Paz, Apr 8 (RHC-PL) Bolivian President Evo Morales said the government of the United States sent experts in social networks to interfere with the referendum held in the South American country on February 21st.

At a social event held in Santa Cruz Department, Morales said that Washington sent its specialists, of South American origin, who entered Bolivia through neighboring countries, to conspire against the referendum through the social networks.

Morales stressed that the process of changes his government started in 2006 is unstoppable. He added: "We will continue the democratic and cultural revolution."
