

Yemen Bans U.S. from Running Military Ground Operations After Failed Raid

Sanaa, February 9 (RHC)-- Yemen has withdrawn permission for the U.S. to carry out special operations ground missions in Yemen, amid outrage over the Navy SEAL Team 6 raid on a Yemeni village that killed a number of civilians, including the 8-year-old daughter of Anwar al-Awlaki, a radical cleric and U.S. citizen who was killed in Yemen by a U.S. drone strike in 2011.

The girl's grandfather, Nasser al-Awlaki, said she suffered for hours after she was shot in the neck during the January 29 raid. William "Ryan" Owens, a veteran member of SEAL Team 6, also died during the raid. The White House continues to claim the raid was a success.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/121097-yemen-bans-us-from-running-military-ground-operations-after-failed-raid>

Radio Habana Cuba