

Cuba and Dominican Republic To Debate Migration

Havana, April 19 (RHC)-- The 9th round of migratory talks between Cuba and the Dominican Republic will take place in Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, April 20th and 21st.

During the meeting, the two sides will review the implementation of a memorandum on the issue, considered the legal framework to guarantee safe and orderly flows of migrants between the two nations.

Another issue that will be discussed is human trafficking, particularly ways to strengthen joint actions in the fight against this scourge.
