

Gaza Health Service Near Collapse Amid Electricity Cuts

Gaza City, July 21 (RHC)-- In the Gaza Strip, medical workers warn electricity shortages imposed by Israel are threatening the lives of the sick and the elderly. This month, Gazans have received between two and four hours of power per day. That has reportedly left hospitals scrambling to keep vulnerable patients alive.

In 2012, the World Health Organization warned that Gaza would be uninhabitable by 2020, but now the U.N. says living conditions in Gaza have deteriorated faster than expected and the area has already become unlivable.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/136212-gaza-health-service-near-collapse-amid-electricity-cuts>

Radio Habana Cuba