

USA Today Calls Trump Unfit To Clean Obama's Toilets In Scathing Editorial

New York, December 14 (RHC)-- USA Today published a brutal editorial this week after U.S. President Donald Trump smeared Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand, a New York Democrat, by saying she “would do anything” for campaign contributions.

“A president who’d all but call a senator a whore is unfit to clean toilets in Obama’s presidential library or to shine George W. Bush’s shoes,” USA Today’s Editorial Board wrote, adding Trump was clearly suggesting Gillibrand would trade sexual favors for campaign donations. The board added that Trump is a “uniquely awful” person with “sickening behavior.” USA Today wrote that tweet was a new low for a president redefining rock bottom.

Gillibrand and her supporters were quick to respond. The New York senator tweeted that she would not be silenced by Trump, a person who brought shame upon the Oval Office. After ripping Donald Trump for his attack on Gillibrand, USA Today’s Editorial Board listed key instances when “Trump’s utter lack of morality, ethics and simple humanity” was on full display.
