Amnesty International reports 3,000 health workers have died from COVID-19

London, July 15 (RHC)-- Amnesty International is estimating 3,000 health workers have died from the pandemic. More than 500 health workers have died in three countries: the United States, Britain and Russia.

Meanwhile, in France, health workers have been given a historic raise after seven weeks of negotiations and protests demanding better pay and increased funding for hospitals.
