

U.S. judge denies White House request to delay deadline for releasing immigrant children

Washington, July 27 (RHC)-- A U.S. federal judge has denied a Trump request to delay today's deadline for releasing immigrant children from "family detention centers" run by ICE — Immigration and Customs Enforcement — in Texas and Pennsylvania.

The release was ordered due to concerns over rising coronavirus infections. "There will be no family separation without parental consent," Judge Dolly Gee specified in her order.
