

New White House coronavirus task force chief is radiologist with no experience with infectious diseases

Washington, August 14 (RHC)-- U.S. President Trump has publicly introduced the new head of the White House coronavirus task force: Dr. Scott Atlas, a radiologist with no expertise in infectious diseases.

Dr. Atlas has promoted school reopenings and previously suggested curtailing public health measures to allow the U.S. to reach coronavirus “herd immunity.” He spent his time speaking thanking and congratulating President Trump and Vice President Pence.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/231595-new-white-house-coronavirus-task-force-chief-is-radiologist-with-no-experience-with-infectious-diseases>

Radio Habana Cuba