Far-Right activist, banned from Twitter over racism, wins Florida House GOP primary

Miami, August 19 (RHC)-- In Palm Beach, Florida, far-right activist Laura Loomer has won the Republican primary for the U.S. House district that's home to President Donald Trump's Mar-a-Lago resort.

Laura Loomer was banned from Twitter and Facebook in 2018 over her racist attacks on Ilhan Omar, one of three Muslim members of Congress. She was also banned from Uber and Lyft after making Islamophobic comments about drivers.

Donald and Melania Trump cast absentee ballots in Tuesday's primary, and after Loomer's victory, the president tweeted his congratulations to her.
