??Human rights activists around the world have condemned the U.S. decision to sell even more weapons to Tel Aviv

London, May 18 (RHC)-- Human rights activists around the world have condemned the U.S. decision to sell even more weapons to Tel Aviv amid the current war of aggression against Palestinians in Gaza.

Philippe Nassif, Amnesty International USA's advocacy director for the Middle East and North Africa, said Amnesty strongly condemns U.S. plans to sell weapons worth $735 million to Israel. He said: "By supplying weapons that could be used to commit war crimes, the U.S. government is taking the risk of fueling further attacks against civilians and seeing more people killed or injured by weapons Made in the USA."
