

Cuba reports 1,129 new COVID-19 infections and 7 deaths

Havana, Jun 4 (RHC) Cuban health authorities announced on Friday 1,129 new COVID-19 infections and seven deaths in the last 24 hours due to complications from the disease.

Thus, the Caribbean nation accumulates 146,696 patients diagnosed with the virus since the beginning of the pandemic in March 2020, and 992 fatalities.

Havana reported the most autochthonous cases with 455, followed by Santiago de Cuba with 1341, and Pinar del Rio 64.

As of midnight, the island accumulated 2 379 961 doses of homegrown vaccines administered

Radio Habana Cuba