Indian farmworkers renew protests against neoliberal agricultural reforms

New Delhi, July 24 (RHC)-- In India, over 200 farmers launched a sit-in and led a protest near the Parliament in New Delhi, marking some eight months of resistance against three pro-corporate agricultural laws enacted by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Farmers are continuing to pressure Modi's government to repeal the laws, which deregulate agricultural markets and roll back key labor and income protections.

Millions of farmers and opponents of the reforms have staged multiple strikes across India since at least last November. Agriculture is the leading source of income for more than half of India's 1.3 billion population.
