

Czech singer Hana Horkad dies after deliberately infecting herself with coronavirus

In the Czech Republic, the popular folk singer Hana Horkad has died of COVID-19 after she intentionally became infected with the coronavirus.

Prague, January 20 (RHC)-- In the Czech Republic, the popular folk singer Hana Horkad has died of COVID-19 after she intentionally became infected with the coronavirus.

Horkad, who was 57 years old, was a prominent anti-vaccination activist. Before her death on Sunday, she said she caught the virus in order to enter concert venues requiring either vaccination or proof of recovery from COVID-19.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/283516-czech-singer-hana-horkad-dies-after-deliberately-infecting-herself-with-coronavirus>

Radio Habana Cuba