

UN says 8 million Yemenis could lose all humanitarian aid in March

The United Nations is warning around two-thirds of aid programs in Yemen had to be slashed or closed last month and that continued lack of funding could mean 8 million Yemenis will lose all humanitarian assistance by next month.

United Nations, February 18 (RHC)-- The United Nations is warning around two-thirds of aid programs in Yemen had to be slashed or closed last month and that continued lack of funding could mean 8 million Yemenis will lose all humanitarian assistance by next month.

Meanwhile, new fronts have opened in the Saudi-led, U.S.-backed war that has led to the world's worst humanitarian disaster. Over 650 civilians were killed in January alone, the highest recorded death toll in at least three years.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/286672-un-says-8-million-yemenis-could-lose-all-humanitarian-aid-in-march>

Radio Habana Cuba