

Brazilian police make five more arrests over murder of Dom Phillips and Bruno Pereira

Brazilian police have arrested another five people linked to the June murders of British journalist Dom Phillips and Brazilian Indigenous rights advocate Bruno Pereira.

Brasilia, August 12 (RHC)-- Brazilian police have arrested another five people linked to the June murders of British journalist Dom Phillips and Brazilian Indigenous rights advocate Bruno Pereira.

Authorities also identified one of the suspects in the murder as the leader of an illegal fishing organized crime group in the Amazon region.

Phillips and Pereira went missing in Brazil's Javari Valley in June; their remains were found dismembered about two weeks later.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/296431-brazilian-police-make-five-more-arrests-over-murder-of-dom-phillips-and-bruno-pereira>

Radio Habana Cuba