Havana, April 26 (RHC)-- The First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba and President of the Republic, Miguel Díaz-Canel urged representatives of the country's investment sector to seek alliances with Latin American and Caribbean nations to make cooperative productions.

During a meeting with executives of companies that develop important investment processes, the head of state learned about their experiences and remarked that the important thing is to keep the factories producing.

Meanwhile, the Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Economy and Planning, Alejandro Gil, called to increase investments and to do it well, since the financing for these processes that do not have a guarantee of sustainability in the time of their inputs and raw materials can ruin the agreement made.

Gil urged to prepare the investments and the investors well, to comply with the execution schedules and "to put the industries into production once the investment is concluded because the generation of goods for national consumption or exportation depends on it, and with it the development of the country".

Several state entrepreneurs shared at the meeting the state of investments in their institutions, as well as their strengths and weaknesses in this area.
