Havana, October 31 (RHC)-- An online event will take place around the world on Wednesday, November 1st -- demanding an end to Washington's genocidal blockade against Cuba.

A statement issued by the organization U.S.-Cuba Normalization said that people around the world will be mobilizing on Wednesday and Thursday, in coordination with the annual United Nations General Assembly debate on the U.S. blockade against the island.

"We invite you to unite your voice for a 24-hour global virtual picket" featuring speakers, cultural performances, live-streaming and more.
