Dubai, December 1 (RHC) -- Cuban President Miguel Díaz-Canel today held a pleasant meeting with United Nations Secretary General Antonio Guterres, within the framework of COP 28, which is being held in Dubai.

The island's president detailed in his X account that he ratified his country's commitment to progress on priority issues for developing countries, which despite being the ones that contribute the least to climate change, suffer exponentially its effects.

Díaz-Canel spoke this day at the World Summit on Climate Action as part of the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (COP 28) and said that peace is necessary to save the planet.

The head of state of the largest Antillean island shared a phrase of timely warning: "That tomorrow is already today, and the clock is ticking". (Source:PL)
