Havana, Nov 1, (RHC), -- Mexico will be represented by 34 firms at the 32nd International Fair of Havana (FIHAV 2014), which opens its doors this Sunday until November 8 in the Cuban capital.

The Mexican embassy in Cuba says 24 of those companies will exhibit their products in the Mexican pavilion, while other 10 are to be placed in different areas of the Expocuba exhibition center, headquarters of the trade fair.

Among the main proposals brought by the Mexican companies will be chemicals for industrial cleaning and maintenance, re-manufactured automobile parts and various products for light industry.

4000 businessmen from 60 countries are expected to participate in Fihav 2014. Among them, there will be representatives from Venezuela, Russia, Spain, China, Brazil, Vietnam, Canada, Mexico, Bolivia, Panama, Ecuador, Italy, France, Costa Rica and the United Kingdom.

There will also be 300 Cuban enterprises. This year, for the first time, there will be a stand devoted to the Special Development Zone of Mariel, and another one devoted to the Containers' Terminal.
