

Cuban First Vice President on African Tour

Johannesburg, March 16 (RHC) -- Cuba's First Vice President Miguel Diaz-Canel arrived in Johannesburg on Monday to pay an official visit to South Africa, during which he will meet with top government officials.

South Africa is the first leg of a tour that include another two African countries, in which the Cuban first vice president will corroborate the historic relations uniting Cuba and Africa.

The Cuban delegation also includes the general director for Bilateral Affairs at the Cuban Foreign Ministry Gerardo Peñalver, and the director for Sub-Saharan Africa, Angel Villa.
