

US House of Reps. votes in favor of sending arms to Ukraine

The US House of Representatives has overwhelmingly approved a resolution urging president Barack Obama to send weapons to Ukraine, to bolster Kyiv's fight against separatist rebels in the country's east.

The resolution was approved by 348 votes to 48.

The Obama administration has said that the president is still weighing the decision, waiting to see whether the international agreements that led to February's ceasefire are implemented.
