

Iberia Airlines Confirms Reopening of Madrid-Havana Flights in June

Madrid, Mar 30, (RHC), – Spain’s Iberia airlines ratified the reopening of its Madrid-Havana route on June 1 describing it as the star on its long operational range.

A statement by the airline company on Monday reads that flights to Montevideo, Uruguay and to Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic are also part of its agenda for the season.

Iberia’s long operational range will open three destinations: Havana on June 1 following a two-year recess, Cali and Medellin, in Colombia, starting June 3 and adding to the agenda for the first time.

In Europe, Iberia Express will inaugurate flights to five destinations in Italy and to Hamburg, while it will increase the number of flights to Berlin, Frankfurt and Dusseldorf.
