

Italian Public Transport Workers Go On Strike

Rome, March 30 (RHC)-- Italian public transport workers have gone on strike to protest against government labor reforms, affecting underground railway, tram, train and bus services in the capital, Rome, and other cities.

A four-hour strike began in Rome's public transport network early Monday morning, bringing services to a halt. Strikes also began in the central city of Bologna, Naples in the south and in the northern cities of Milan and Turin.
