Cuba's Debut in Gold Cup Stained With Irregularities

As Cuba debuted in the Gold Cup on Thursday with a heavy but unsurprising 6-0 defeat at the hands of Mexico, a series of inconsistencies and irregularities were pointed out by analysts as the probable cause of the island's poor performance.

The squad has been forced to face its rivals in the CONCACAF tournament with only 16 players – two of them goal keepers – given that six of its players were not allowed into the United States, where the tournament is taking place.

One of the players defected before the game against Mexico. The team's coach, Raul Gonzalez, and their main doctor were not allowed in the country over visa issues, leaving the Cuban team in disarray and under-equipped.

During Thursday's game, Assistant Coach Walter Benitez had to take over the team in a match against the tournament's favorite, Mexico. Cuba, better known for its talents in baseball, is participating in its eighth Gold Cup tournament. Mexico easily dominated the match, maintaining 76 percent possession, and Oribe Peralta scoring a hat trick. For their part, Mexico is playing without superstar Javier Hernandez, better known as Chicharito, after he was sidelined with a collarbone injury during a friendly match with Honduras before the start of the Gold Cup tournament.

Toronto 2015 Water polo

The most outstanding U. S. players were Margaret Steffens and Mackenzie Fischer, who both scored three goals.

The Caribbean goalscorers were Adriana Garlobo, Dayana Morales and Mayelín Bernal.

Cuba will face Argentina on Friday, which beat Mexico on Thursday by a score of 10 to 8. The Cuban team have to defeat the Mexican team on Saturday if they want to reach the semifinals.
