

More than 3 Million Cubans Have Access to Internet

Havana, Aug 22, (RHC), – The number of Cubans with access to the Internet surpassed 3 million in 2014, according to data from the National Bureau of Statistics and Information.

In a report posted on its Web site, the bureau said the quantity of computers in private hands rose last year to more than 1 million and that 533,000 of those units were connected to the Web. Public Wi-Fi is also available at 35 spots across the island and fees have been reduced for a domestic email service accessible from cellphones.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/nacionales/66588-more-than-3-million-cubans-have-access-to-internet>

Radio Habana Cuba