

Cuba's New Ambassador to the United States Presents Credentials to President Barack Obama

Washington, September 18 (RHC)-- Cuban diplomat Ramón Cabañas, who served as chargé d' affaires at the Cuban Interests Section and then Embassy in Washington D.C., has presented U.S. President Barack Obama his credentials as Cuba's ambassador.

President Barack Obama received the official credentials of the Cuban ambassador on Thursday, along with credentials of 14 new heads of diplomatic missions in Washington, DC.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/nacionales/69501-cubas-new-ambassador-to-the-united-states-presents-credentials-to-president-barack-obama>

Radio Habana Cuba