

Hungary Approves Army's Use of Non-Lethal Weapons Against Refugees

Budapest, September 22 (RHC)-- In news from Europe, Hungary has passed legislation allowing the army to be deployed to the border as thousands of refugees fleeing violence in their home countries continue to attempt to cross the continent in efforts to reach northern Europe.

The new law allows Hungarian troops to use rubber bullets, tear gas, smoke and flash grenades, and net guns against refugees.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/69936-hungary-approves-armys-use-of-non-lethal-weapons-against-refugees>

Radio Habana Cuba