

Panamanian Supreme Court Justice Accuses Former President Martinelli Over Illegal Spying

Panama City, October 12 (EFE-RHC)-- A Panamanian Supreme Court justice investigating wiretapping allegations against former President Ricardo Martinelli has found sufficient evidence to link the ex-head of state to the purported eavesdropping on some 150 people during his administration, judiciary officials said.

Justice Harry Diaz presented a writ to the high court detailing his findings against Martinelli, who left Panama in late January and, according to his attorneys, is now in Miami.
