

Mexico Unveils Altar to Murdered Journalists

Mexico City, October 31 (RHC)-- In the Mexican capital, the Museum of Memory and Tolerance has unveiled an altar to the journalists killed over the last decade ahead of the Day of the Dead celebrations.

At least 32 reporters have been killed in Mexico since 1992, making it one of the deadliest countries for journalists.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/74459-mexico-unveils-altar-to-murdered-journalists>

Radio Habana Cuba