

Jeb Bush Calls for Deploying Ground Troops to Fight ISIL

Charleston, November 20 (RHC)-- U.S. Republican presidential candidate Jeb Bush has proposed deploying U.S. ground troops to fight the Islamic State. Speaking at a military college in South Carolina, Bush called for a no-fly zone over Syria, arming Kurdish forces and increasing troop presence on the ground.

The U.S. presidential hopeful said: "While air power is essential, it cannot bring the results we seek. The United States, in conjunction with our NATO allies and more Arab partners, will need to increase our presence on the ground."
