

French Activists Vow to Protest During Paris Climate Talks

Paris, November 25 (RHC)-- In the wake of the Paris attacks, French authorities canceled a mass march against climate change scheduled for this Sunday; 200,000 people were expected to take to the streets to call for a global deal to avert climate catastrophe.

On Tuesday night, in Paris, hundreds gathered at an emergency meeting to oppose France's state of emergency, which prohibits demonstrations for three months.

The attendees vowed to protest during the upcoming United Nations climate talks -- known as the Conference of the Parties, or COP.
