

Mayors Call for Cities to Divest from Fossil Fuels

Paris, December 4 (RHC)-- In Paris at the UN Climate Change Summit, a group of mayors from around the world have issued an open letter calling on cities to divest from fossil fuels.

The mayors represent a dozen cities, from Portland, Oregon to Oslo, Norway to Moreland City, Australia. All of the mayors who have signed the letter have already committed to either fully or partially divesting the city's investments and pension funds from fossil fuels.

The mayors are part of a global movement in which more than 500 institutions with $3.4 trillion in assets have committed to fossil fuel divestment.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/77844-mayors-call-for-cities-to-divest-from-fossil-fuels>

Radio Habana Cuba