

Brazilian Media Giant Globo Implicated in the Panama Papers

Brasilia, April 6 (RHC)-- Brazil's biggest television network Globo is largely linked to "The Panama Papers" corruption scandal, Os Amigos do Presidente Lula blog reported on Tuesday, citing research from a group of Dutch journalists from the daily newspaper Trouw.

According to the report, TV Globo is cited "many times" in a money laundering investigation of the De Nederlands-che Bank which revealed that for years the media outlet conducted "irregular financial transactions" through tax havens in order to pay broadcast rights for the Copa Libertadores.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/89669-brazilian-media-giant-globo-implicated-in-the-panama-papers>

Radio Habana Cuba