

New U.S. lawsuit alleges Boeing ignored software flaws in 737 MAX

Washington, April 12 (RHC)-- Another lawsuit against Boeing has been filed in the U.S. over last month's fatal Ethiopian Airlines crash, which killed all 157 people on board. The family of 29-year-old Mucaad Hussein Abdalla from Minnesota says Boeing neglected known safety issues in the design of its flight control system on the 737 MAX 8 aircraft and that it did not properly train pilots on the software.

Last week, the family of 24-year-old Samya Stumo sued Boeing and filed a claim against the Federal Aviation Administration. Boeing's CEO admitted wrongdoing and apologized for the crash for the first time last week.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/188289-new-us-lawsuit-alleges-boeing-ignored-software-flaws-in-737-max>

Radio Habana Cuba