

Cuban foreign minister denounces U.S. blockade hinders access to medicines

Havana, August 19 (RHC)-- Cuban Foreign Minister Bruno Rodríguez denounced on Wednesday through his Twitter account that the U.S. blockade against the Caribbean nation makes access to medicines and medical equipment difficult.

The Cuban foreign minister said that United Nations human rights experts confirmed that the humanitarian exceptions to the unilateral coercive measures by COVID-19 are ignored.

Cuba has denounced that the government of Donald Trump has tightened the economic, financial and commercial blockade in the midst of the battle against the pandemic.
