

Court blocks construction of Mountain Valley Pipeline in victory for environmental activists

Image not found or type unknown

Court blocks construction of Mountain Valley Pipeline in victory for environmental activists.
(Photo: Democracy Now)

Washington, November 10 (RHC)-- A U.S. federal court has temporarily blocked the construction of the Mountain Valley Pipeline pending an ongoing appeal from environmental groups.

The 300-mile pipeline would cross through wetlands and streams in Virginia and West Virginia. Activists have long argued a permit allowing its construction violates environmental laws and could pose catastrophic threats to vital waterways.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/239331-court-blocks-construction-of-mountain-valley-pipeline-in-victory-for-environmental-activists>

Radio Habana Cuba