

Texas court finds abortion ban unconstitutional, but stops short of injunction

Image not found or type unknown

Demonstration outside Texas State Capitol in Austin

Austin, December 10 (RHC)-- A court in the U.S. state of Texas has ruled against part of the state's near-total ban on abortions but stopped short of issuing an injunction that would block its enforcement.

The law, known as S.B. 8, allows private citizens — anywhere in the United States — to sue healthcare workers and others for facilitating an abortion in Texas. Those who succeed win a $10,000 “bounty.”

A state judge in Austin has now ruled that the law violates the Texas Constitution, but will allow it to remain in effect while proponents appeal the ruling.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/279511-texas-court-finds-abortion-ban-unconstitutional-but-stops-short-of-injunction>

Radio Habana Cuba