

Europe rejects destabilization campaign against Cuba

Image not found or type unknown

Illustrative image taken from Archivo/RHC

Havana, July 10 (RHC)-- The Europe for Cuba channel expressed on Sunday a strong condemnation of the destabilization actions promoted and financed by the United States against the island to impose a change of government.

"The events of July 11, 2021 demonstrate those attempts, which failed due to the determination of the Cuban people and their willingness to defend independence and the Revolution," it stressed in allusion to the protests that a year ago included riots and other violent acts, a scenario that the United States seeks to revive.

In a statement, the solidarity platform created in October 2020 denounced that Washington, with the accompaniment of information media and social networks, intends to materialize a so-called soft coup in the Antillean nation.

"The events of July 11, 2021 demonstrate those attempts, which failed due to the determination of the Cuban people and their willingness to defend independence and the Revolution," he stressed in allusion to the protests that a year ago included riots and other violent acts, a scenario that the United States seeks to revive.

According to the channel, the recent sanctions announced by the U.S. government against Cuban officials are intended to generate tension, as part of its aggressive and imperial policy.

"All this, perfectly orchestrated, aims to undermine Cuba's sovereignty and sink the revolutionary process initiated by the people 63 years ago," warned the moderator and coordinator of the platform, José Antonio Toledo.

Europe for Cuba added that this hostile posture also multiplies world solidarity with the people of the island and its Revolution.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/nacionales/293110-europe-rejects-destabilization-campaign-against-cuba>

Radio Habana Cuba