

U.S. frees two Guantánamo prisoners who endured torture and 20 years imprisonment

Image not found or type unknown

Washington, February 24 (RHC)-- The Biden administration has released two more prisoners from the Guantánamo Bay Naval Base, located on illegally-occupied territory in Cuba.

Mohammed and Abdul Rabbani, two brothers now in their mid-fifties, were repatriated to Pakistan after they were held without charges for two decades. The U.S. accused them of providing low-level logistical support to al-Qaeda, but never provided evidence in a court of law.

Both brothers say they were tortured at a secret CIA prison in Afghanistan for about 550 days before they were transferred to Guantánamo in 2004. The U.S. continues to imprison 32 men at Guantánamo.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/314804-us-frees-two-guantanamo-prisoners-who-endured-torture-and-20-years-imprisonment>

Radio Habana Cuba