

U.S. Department of Education threatens sweeping cuts to schools that promote diversity

Image not found or type unknown

Washington, February 18 (RHC)-- The Education Department is threatening to cut off all federal funding to schools that don't end all programs related to DEI — Diversity, Equity and Inclusion — within the next 14 days. The order could impact everything from preschools to colleges.

PEN America condemned the sweeping move. In a statement, the group said the administration “seeks to declare it a civil rights violation for educational institutions to engage in any diversity-related programming or to promote any diversity-related ideas — potentially including everything from a panel on the Civil Rights Movement to a Lunar New Year celebration.”

[SOURCE: DEMOCRACY NOW]

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/376812-us-department-of-education-threatens-sweeping-cuts-to-schools-that-promote-diversity>

Radio Habana Cuba