Report reveals over 50 Venezuelans sent by U.S. to El Salvador prison had pending asylum appointments

Washington, May 23 (RHC)-- A report released by the Cato Institute says dozens of Venezuelans — more than 50 — who were transferred from the U.S. to El Salvador's CECOT mega-prison in March had pending asylum appointments after they entered the U.S. using the Biden-era app CBP One.

At least one had a temporary visa, while four others had authorization to live in the U.S. through the refugee program.
