

Trump claims Iran and Israel will begin a ceasefire, without confirmation from either Tehran or Tel Aviv

Image not found or type unknown

Washington, June 23 (RHC)-- U.S. President Donald Trump has claimed that Israel and Iran have agreed to what he called a “complete and total” ceasefire that will bring an end to what he called “the 12-day war.” The information has yet to be confirmed.

Meanwhile, Israel continued to attack Iran, with blasts heard in Tehran, and Iranian officials issuing an evacuation warning for residents of the Ramat Gan area near Tel Aviv.

Trump’s announcement comes after Iran launched a missile attack on Al Udeid Air Base in Qatar, which houses U.S. troops, in retaliation for Washington's strikes that targeted nuclear facilities in Iran on Sunday.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/385759-trump-claims-iran-and-israel-will-begin-a-ceasefire-without-confirmation-from-either-tehran-or-tel-aviv>

Radio Habana Cuba