Toronto 2015

Cuba had another lively day of competitions on Tuesday at the 17th Pan-American Games Toronto 2015 in a variety of disciplines.

In the case of baseball, after 6 quiet innings, Tyler O'Neill broke up a pitchers' duel to keep Canada undefeated in baseball actions at the Pan-American Games.

O'Neill hit a 3-run homer off Yoennis Yera in the 6th inning as Canada beat Cuba 3-1 on Tuesday night at President's Choice Ajax Park to move to 4-0 in preliminary-round play.

Canada's youngest player, the 20-year-old O'Neill, drilled his 2nd homer of the tournament off the batter's eye in center field to give veteran starter Shawn Hill all the support he needed.

The 34-year-old Hill, 3 years removed from his last major-league appearance, didn't strike out a single Cuban batter but allowed just 3 hits and issued 1 walk in 6 shutout innings.

That kind of mastery was needed with Yera on his game for much of the night. Cuba's starter allowed just 1 hit for the first 5 innings before an infield single, hit batter and O'Neill's homer broke things open for Canada.
