

Venezuela Pays Tribute to Birthday Anniversary of Hugo Chavez

Havana, July 27 (RHC) --- Tributes to the leader of the Bolivarian Revolution, Hugo Chavez, on the anniversary of his birth continue today in Venezuela with various activities.

Tomorrow, July 28th – when the late Venezuelan president would have turned 61 years old –the closing of the celebrations in his honor will take place throughout the South American nation with songs, exhibitions and artistic events.

In a letter to the Venezuelan people, the daughter of the revolutionary leader and president of the “Eternal Commander Foundation,” Virginia Rosa Chavez, said the validity of his work and thought demonstrates the path to follow in Venezuela.

The event also includes cultural galas and workshops on the legacy of his thought and action.
