

Cuba Holds Local Neighborhood Meetings on the Prevention of Zika Virus

Havana, February 27 (RHC)-- Cubans are holding local neighborhood meetings to discuss wiping out breeding areas of the Aedes Aegypti mosquito and prevent the spread of the Zika virus.

These meetings are part of the joint work of the Health Ministry, the Committees for the Defense of the Revolution and other mass organizations. Local residents are informed about ways their families can help in the clean up efforts, with thorough inspections and fumigation of all homes and the proper treatment of water supplies – eliminating the proliferation of mosquitoes.
