Oct 4, – Tampa International Airport added Santa Clara to its Cuba flight routes, local newspaper reports.

The Tampa Bay Times reports ABC Charters will offer direct flights to the central Cuban city starting Dec. 4.

More than 85,000 people have departed from Tampa International Airport since 2011, when it began offering flights to the island after a 50 years hiatus.

ABC already flies once a week to Havana and Holguin. It will add a second weekly flight to Havana on Nov. 5. Island Travel & Tours also flies from Tampa to Havana three times a week, meaning there could soon be seven flights to Cuba a week departing from Tampa.
