

Israel to Demolish More Palestinian Homes in West Bank

Tel Aviv, May 28 (RHC)-- The Israeli regime is set to demolish more homes belonging to Palestinians in the occupied West Bank despite international condemnation against the regime's demolition campaign against Palestinian homes and properties.

Palestinian news sources quoted Ghassan Daghlis, a Palestinian official in charge of Israeli settlements' files in the northern West Bank, as saying on Friday that the Israeli regime issued demolition orders to tear down four homes, agricultural sheds and an electricity power line, plus water and electricity networks.

Last month, the United Nations said Israel's demolition campaign against Palestinian homes and structures across the occupied West Bank had increased four times compared to 2015, and left a record number of 808 Palestinians displaced since the start of 2016.
